

SHE UPSET TOWN IN ROLE OF SCREEN IDOL

MRS. HELEN M. ANDREWS

Natick woman who fooled Milford movie fans when she appeared in the Opera House impersonating Anna Q. Nilson. Today she revealed herself as a detective engaged in running down "lost films" for a movie concern.

STOCKHOLDERS CRY 'FRAUD!' IN MILL DEAL

Allegations of fraud were made today at a meeting of the stockholders of the United States Worsteds Company, which at times threatened to become a near riot.

The disturbance came when a motion was made to reelect the company, which move, according to the minority stockholders, would mean the wiping out of their investments.

The reorganization plan was finally passed, but the holders of 20,000 shares of the common and preferred stock of the company gave formal notice at the meeting that they planned to form a protective committee and bring immediate litigation to stop what they consider a plan to rob them.

OFFERS HIS STOCK FOR $15. At the height of the meeting one stockholder, a Salem man, employed as night watchman, offered to sell his stock, which cost him $200, for $15. No one would buy it.

The disturbance came when Charles J. Mallet, a heavy stockholder, said that he was President Lowell Turns Down Son of a Colored Graduate Who Won Honors in College

President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University has drawn the color line around the new Harvard freshman dormitories.

Request of Horace Conkling Bruce, Harvard graduate, owner of the class of 1902, and son of Blanche Kelso Bruce, who was Registrar of the United States Treasury, that a room be reserved in the freshman dormitory for his son, now at Phillips Exeter Academy, has been refused by President Lowell.

The reason is contained in the following letter from President Lowell to the father:

"Dr. Mr. Bruce: Your letter to the Registrar about your son has been given to me. I am sorry to have to tell you that in the Freshman Hall, where residence is compulsory, we have felt from the beginning the necessity of not including colored men."

"The other dormitories and dining rooms they are admitted freely, but in the Freshman Hall, I am sure you will understand why, from the beginning, we have not thought it possible to compel men of different races to reside together."

In reply Horace Conkling Bruce says it "becomes a great matter of culture, avoidably to associate the consciousness of racial differences among Americans."

He asks: "Have the Germans taught us nothing?" He tells President Lowell that race prejudice was novel procedure at Harvard in 1912, the Lowell administration.

According to dispatches today from New York a meeting has been held at the Harvard Club there at which President Lowell was present; also some of the signatures of the famous memorial of last June in which seven prominent Harvard graduates accused that Harvard was turning to a "Jim Crow" policy in deference to Dixie students.

Ruhr Coal District and Essen Seized

London, Jan. 11.—Great Britain will not withdraw the British army of occupation from the Rhine, will continue amicable relations with France, and will maintain representation upon the Reparations Commission, the Cabinet decided today, the Foreign Office announced.

Amsterdam, Jan. 11.—A dispatch from Essen to the Exchange Telegraph says the Rhemish and Westphalian labor organizations have decided to proclaim a brief strike, beginning Monday, throughout the whole industrial district, in protest against the French occupation.

Berlin, Jan. 11.—French airplanes dropped leaflets over Essen yesterday, calling upon the population to remain quiet. The leaflets asserted that persons who stopped work would be deported and that

GET HEAT OR DON'T PAY RENT SAYS JUDGE

Tenants who are unable to get heat from their landlords should withhold their rent, according to Judge Hayden of Roxbury court. This was the advice given to five tenants today who appeared against Joseph B. Green, who has offices at the Carney Building, Boston.

Children were made ill, mothers froze in their homes and at least one husband was ejected from the landlord's office when he protested against lack of heat, according to the testimony.

EXTRA! EXTRA! PELLETIER JURORS DEMAND DISCHARGE

Nine members of the special grand jury investigating criminal charges against former District Attorney Pelletier and Daniel H. Coakley appeared before Judge Bishop in Superior Court today and asked to be dismissed, declaring certain things have transpired in the jury room that would defeat the purpose for which the jury was called. Judge Bishop said he had no authority to act on the request. The matter will be taken up tomorrow with the attorney-general or the chief justice of the Supreme Court.

"For some time Mr. Potter and I have differed on matters of administration. According to the rules and regulations I am supposed to have the say as to how my force will be

MYSTERY SHOT FIRED AT KLAN WITNESS

Mer Rouge, La., Jan. 11.—A mysterious bullet hole in the automobile of W. C. Andrews, one of the state's star witnesses in the "Hooded Mob" investigation, gave rise to rumors today of a new act of violence in a terrorist plot to prevent witnesses appearing at the hearing.

The bullet apparently had been fired into the car either from long range or by deflection.

Andrews told newspaper men he had used the car to return here from Mer Rouge, where he testified yesterday.

Although he was a victim of the "hooded mob" which killed Watt Daniel and Thomas Richard, Andrews declared he could not "explain" the bullet mark. The lead on police had struck the door of the machine, splintering the wood work.

Klan Member Tells of Mer Rouge Raid

Mer Rouge, Jan. 11.—Fred Higginbotham, who declared himself a charter member of the Ku Klux Klan, and still a member, appeared on the witness stand today at the opening hearing into hooded band activities during the slaying of Watt Daniel and Thomas Richard, that he could name but one official, Captain Skiphith.

Higginbotham is exalted cyclops of the Mer Rouge Klan. The only members attending the meeting at which he was initiated were Skiphith and L. L. Hoss.

Higginbotham was mentioned by Harry Neale, youthful automobile salesman, who testified yesterday, as one who seemed active in carrying messages between men who took part in the kidnapping of Richard on August 17 or 18 last, when he was taken into the woods and questioned, later released.

Higginbotham denied he was connected with Neale at that time to the extent stated by Neale, and asserted that he, too, had been held up by the "K" hooded band.

Are you a member of the Ku Klux Klan? he was asked.

"I am a charter member of the Mer Rouge Klan."

"Who are the officers?"

"I don't know any in particular except Captain Skiphith."

"Is he Cyclops or Skull of the Klan?"

"Something like that, I believe."

Masked Band Beats and Exiles North Carolina Man

Thomaspville, N. C., Jan. 11.—R. E. Zimmerman, of Elkhart, Pa., was seized in the back yard of the home here of Mrs. H. D. Strayhorn and severely beaten about the head and body by a band of five masked men.

Zimmerman said he was taken to the outskirts of Thomaspville and told never to come here again.

public. I am innocent because the whole of Milford has been made a laughing stock of."

Just like the movies.

Mrs. Anderson, however, but gave refusal to render any affidavit. Hurl and Egan denied to the police station the Police Chief Evans.

But Mrs. Anderson and Your Correspondent beat them to it by finding Chief Evans in court.

Just then Egan and Hurl rushed to the court.

Egan to Evans: "I want to talk to you as chief of Milford police."

Chief Evans took the two men to conference. They demanded a warrant for Mrs. Anderson, as representative herself as a Department of Justice agent. But Chief Evans wouldn't do it, and right away Egan and Hurl took the next train.

Chief Evans hinted to Mrs. Anderson that a complete investigation of the Department of Justice matter, so that they might accuse her of neglecting her children.

Mrs. Anderson departed for Boston. But she told your correspondent more before she left.

She said she was hired by one Perry of the Mayor's office to trail lost films.

JUST AFTER "EVIDENCE."

She met Perry at Marlboro, Dec. 29th. He said he had been introduced as Mary Moonan, the movie actress. She was interested to get evidence.

Some disturbing agencies, she told Your Correspondent, are old films, report them as unusable for further rental but fail to turn them back to the producers. Instead, they rent them to movie houses at out rates. A good deal of this has been done on Boston films.

"I was hired," she went on, "to see theatre managers who showed Milford films, try to learn where they rented them and for how much. I found several theatres got them at reduced rates. Milford films got his for $40, whereas the regular price is $75 to $80."

"I had instructions to represent myself as Milford if necessary. I told Chairman Egan just who I was and what I was after. I never told him I was a Department of Justice agent."

Next read to be announced.

LACKS FAITH IN INTELLIGENCE OF FILM MEN

PAULINE FREDERICK, the former screen star, who has returned to the spoken drama for a season and who will move upon Boston at the Shubert next Monday in "The Gully One," has very little faith in the intelligence of the average film producer.

"Five years I have fought to have intelligence incorporated in the making of pictures, but without success," says Pauline Frederick. "I have labored to have pictures made just as they are shown; but no, they will make twice as much picture as they can show. In other words, they will take ten thousand feet of film for a five thousand feet picture, then cut and piece it together until sometimes you can hardly recognize the subject that you have aided in making."

"In the present state there is very little satisfaction in the making of pictures, other than the financial compensation received—and life is too short to filter it away for the mere reward of a few dollars and cents."

"When I return to the screen, if I ever do, it will be when I am in a position to make my own pictures and conduct my own studio; and you can stake your life that I will conduct no studio upon sold business principles, but the same as a banker runs a bank or a merchant conducts his shop."

WANTS TO MARRY

There is just one thing that

Walter Hura three days. Only a few weeks ago was rendered a "divorced" star. He immediately began work in "Mr. Billings' Spreads His Wings," and now he is hurrying through that production for another series of adventures.

He is also hurrying from Los Angeles to Chicago, where he is scheduled to make a personal appearance in the new Melvick Theatre, but that will be only an incident in the trip.

The big event is scheduled for tomorrow at Syracuse, where he is scheduled to be married to Miss Adele McWilliams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McWilliams, who formerly lived in Los Angeles. The honeymoon trip is a wedding trip from Jesse L. Lasky and the Paramount organization.

2 WOMEN SAVED, MAN DROWNS HIMSELF

Determined and determined to "end it all," two women and a man sought death in icy waters by jumping from Boston bridges.

The man, young, well dressed and unskilled, was successful. He sank to death after a spectacular jump from the Summer street suspension bridge in view of hundreds of men and women. His body is at the Northern mortuary.

The women, one a young and pretty South End girl, were both saved and are confined in Boston hospitals.

Miss Anna Irwin, 23, and single, jumped over the railing of the Charlestown bridge and plunged into the water of the harbor. She was rescued by Paul Blackburn of Charlestown.

The other woman, Mrs. Wilhelmina McFarland, wearing a bathing suit and lingerie, jumped from the Castle Island bridge and was saved. She resides at No. 23 Rutland street, South End, with an adult son.

WOMEN JOIN TO CRUSH THE DRUG EVIL

New York, Jan. 11—A nation-wide campaign against "dope" was inaugurated here today following organization of the Society for the Suppression of the Narcotic Drug Habit, headed by Mrs. John Jerome Rooney. (Reports from various parts of the country inspired a group of social welfare workers here in the necessity of quick action against the growing menace to the nation's youth.)

"The danger lies in the corruption of the youth of the nation," Mrs. Rooney said. "This dreadful traffic is a menace to the future of the young people. A narcotic drug quickly ensnares a young body."

"The crying need of an nationwide crusade in this country can be seen when it is realized that factories more narcotic drugs are used in the United States than in any other country inhabited by the white race. We use seventeen times more per capita than they use in China."

"It is estimated that three and one-half tons of narcotics would be sufficient to supply the legitimate practice of medicine for the whole world," said Mrs. Rooney. "Yet we have 5,200 tons distributed."

Queen's Hair Found in Monarch's Tomb in Egypt

Luxor, Egypt, Jan. 11—A handful of long gray human hair, believed to be traces of King Tutankhamun's Queen, was removed from the outer chamber of the monarch's tomb. The excavators expressed the opinion that the King died before his wife's decease and that she had these locks shorn from her head and deposited in the tomb with her husband's body. The hair was contained in an alabaster box. Two chariot wheels, heavily studded with brilliant jewels, were also taken out.

In the free and easy way of purchasing it, according to the committee, a prominent member of which is Mrs. W. H. Bond, better known as Winifred Black, noted writer.

It takes only thirty-three days to make a dope addict, and fifty-nine out of a hundred never are cured, except by death, states the report.

CATHERINE V. FEENEY TO WED ATHLETE
Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Feeney of No. 11 Haver View street, Dorchester, announced the engagement of their daughter, Catherine V. Feeney, to Fred Kropka of West Somerville. Kropka was prominent as an athlete at Somerville High School. Miss Feeney is popular among the younger set of the Haver View district.

O'BRIEN LAUDS HEARST PAPERS' DRUG CRUSADE

"The Hearst newspapers throughout the country, particularly the Boston American, have done more to stamp out the drug evil and to bring to the attention of the authorities the activity of drug gangs than any other newspapers in the United States," said District Attorney Thomas A. O'Brien in a talk before the employees of a Lincoln street insurance concern at their regular monthly meeting. Nearly 300 employees and guests were present.

The District Attorney said that the drug evil has for years had a severe grip on the people of the entire country, that it had crept into the motion picture game and has already demonstrated its work in this profession.

He also said that during the last ten years there have been 8,500 murders committed in the United States, and of this number 9,500 had taken place during the past year, and more than 8,000 of these were by bullets. He declared that there should be a law to prohibit the sale of cartridges to any but government and police departments.

He later assailed the dance halls, billiard and pool rooms and the "speas, seas" clubs in Boston, stating that these places have done more to increase crime than any other place.

Men! Here Is Your Chance!

Beginning this morning we place on sale

At One Price

In what is unquestionably the greatest drive in men's clothing Boston has seen this season, thousands of strictly all-wool, elegantly tailored men's and young men's

Suits, Overcoats & Ulsters

Made to retail at

$30, $35, $40 & $45

The most phenomenal, far reaching and important news of the day in Men's Clothing circles! An event which, in the face of the much higher and constantly rising costs of production, stands absolutely unparalleled in the city of Boston.

Note These Facts, Men:

Woolens have gone up from 25% to 40%. Labor costs more. Linings, canvas, buttons, sewing silks and findings are much higher priced than last year. THESE GARMENTS COULD NOT BE MADE TO DAY FOR LESS THAN 50% MORE THAN OUR SALE PRICE!

Despite these facts, we are going to sell every one of these Suits and Overcoats for $20 each! Why? Because the output of the clothing industry this season was greater than the market could absorb. The reason for this goes back to the unseasonably mild weather all during the season, from October through to January 1st. Our vast buying power and huge outlet through our chain of stores placed us in a position to make the most of this unexpected opportunity and bring about this extraordinary saving for our customers.

Unlimited Varieties!

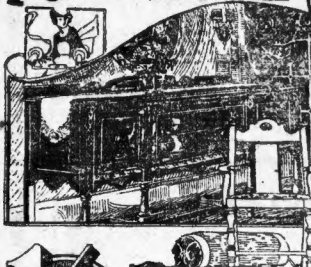

SUITS—Single and double breasted models, sports, Norfolk and Collegiate styles; also sack coats with 1, 2, 3 and 4 button fronts, and plenty of conservative and semi-conservative styles. All fabrics and colors. Sizes for men and young men—regular, short, tall, slender and stout models.

OVERCOATS—Ulsters, Ulsterettes, Raglans, Chesterfields, straight shoulder, box and kimono models. With and without belts. All fabrics and colors.

WILLION TO BE DRIVEN FROM THEIR HOMES IN THE NEAR EAST

More Than 400,000 Turks to Be Forcible From Greece and Macedonia

When, Jan. 11.—The League Conference has voted to change the Greek population of Turkey against the Turkish population of Greece. Excepted are the 200,000 Greeks in Constantinople, and in return the 300,000 Turks in Western Thrace, which belongs to Greece.

In the terms of the decision, all Greeks in Turkey and all other Turks in Greece must move. It is estimated that 400,000 Greeks in Turkey are affected and about 400,000 in Macedonia and the rest of Greece.

Those who defend the move on the ground that it is a means of preventing a worse fate from overtaking the Greeks in Turkey. But there may be no misunderstanding; it must be made plain that it is not the Greeks who are to be driven from their homes, but the Turks who are to be driven from their homes.

JAMES J. GIOBELLA

Fifteen-year-old boy prodigy who it is thought has been kidnapped.

BOY PRODIGY, A WITNESS, VANISHES

A belief that James J. Giobella, fifteen-year-old West End boy, has been kidnapped to prevent his giving testimony as a government witness in a Somerville court case has caused the police of that city to conduct a State-wide search for him.

The boy mysteriously disappeared after two strange men and called on his mother. The men told her that she would be "money" in if she kept her boy from court. An hour later the boy was spotted away.

Young Giobella was to be the principal witness for the government in the case of L. C. Muller of Somerville, who is charged with an attempt to bribe a police officer.

It is alleged that Muller offered Giobella $1,000 to bribe Muller during the charge and would not testify in court.

The police state that the missing boy, heard the alleged offer and that it was on his testimony they issued their search. The trial was postponed until January 17, following Giobella's disappearance.

The boy is reported to be a fine soprano soloist, according to the police.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Giuseppe Giobella, has taken her son to various parts in New York and had planned to make him a great singer. She is at a loss to explain his absence and is greatly worried. She told Chief of Police Kennedy of Somerville through an interpreter.

COMMERCIALISED IN NEW AVEN ENGINES

The New Haven Railroad is making some most with the water in engine tanks. According to figures in the weekly report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the New Haven Railroad, 1914-15, killed horses, cars have been wrecked and hundreds of trains have been hours late, says the report, which has been sent to the Senate of shippers who have been on strike since July 1.

"On Christmas Day," the report says, "engine No. 3334 smashed in to ten barrels at Kingston, Ct., demolishing them both and ripping an axle off the engine."

MILE AN HOUR
The report mentions what is held as the New Haven record for locomotives. It is recorded as one which will stand for years. According to the statement, a freight train carrying live stock traveled twenty miles in forty-eight hours, at an average of a half mile an hour.

The specific instance is cited as follows: "A train of live stock left Watertown, four miles north of Watertown, Sunday night, was at Auburn, Tuesday night, twenty-two miles from Watertown."

The train, it is pointed out, was again wrecked. The station was crowded to capacity and trains were held up for more than a half hour at a time.

Writing complaints about the New Haven Railroad, also the Boston Herald, contains the following: "I have read complaints enough from poor, weary commuters whose occupations require that they travel on the New Haven road but have not those who travel on the Williams and Providence Division. Perhaps it is because, when they reach their destinations if they ever do, they are too exhausted to utter a word, let alone writing about them."

"Today the first Providence-bound train, due at Boston at 7:25 a. m., was nearly an hour late. The next one, Williams and Providence, due at 8:34 rolled in a half-hour late. It pulled away the main line from there and there it stayed."

"The engine wheeled a little but would not back. Finally it decided to move along a little farther. At 12 p. m. some accident that the train had succeeded in getting halfway between Plainfield and Canterbury, a distance of 107 miles from here. There it remained."

fifteen minutes after leaving time. Then it was shifted from its track to another track, where it stood for an hour and forty minutes unscathed. After one and one-half hours one of the passengers, taking the obligation upon himself, went to one of the telephones on the rail of the fence and personally called the train dispatcher and told him of the plight. Fifteen minutes later an engine was coupled on and the train started two hours late.

TAKE FARES BY LANTERN.

"Editor American:
"Why pick on the New Haven Railroad all the time? Here is one on the Boston & Maine. One Monday the train due to leave Boston at 1:15 p. m. left at 4:46. From Boston to Portland, the engine was in bad luck all night and that went out at Portland. The conductor collected tickets by light of a lantern carried by a brakeman. Train arrived at Portland one hour and fifty-seven minutes late."

"Editor American:
"What about the Boston & Maine's loaded train at the North Station for Lowell, due to leave at 5:50. It started, remained one of little trouble's cooking house—lots of motion but no progress. After fifteen minutes of rocking back and forth we really started. "MRS. NOISE."

BIG SHIPMENTS OF GRAIN PASS THROUGH CITY

Although the Pennsylvania railroad has placed an embargo on grain shipments, due to the congestion, the movement of grain through Boston is continuing. The shipments through this port during the past six weeks have been the largest in years.

At Baltimore the elevators of the Pennsylvania system are filled to capacity and 1,600 of the company's cars are standing on the tracks at Canton, unable to be moved.

Different conditions, however, prevail in Boston. Today the Boston & Albany has less than 400,000 bushels in its million bushel elevator at East Boston, and the Boston & Maine elevators are not crowded.

The two Grand Trunk depositors at Portland, Me., are choked but a five ship arrived at that port on Wednesday to transfer the grain around it is believed that the congestion there will be relieved by the end of the week.

FIRE DEPARTMENT VETERANS RETIRED

Retirement of two well-known veterans of the Boston Fire Department will be a loss to the city's fire service. Chief William E. Riley of District 2, and Captain Bartholomew F. Hayes of Engine Company 27 are the men to go on the inactive list. Chief Riley was appointed to the department in 1912. He was made district chief on August 10, 1917. Captain Hayes served for thirty-two years. He became a captain on January 4, 1907.

4 OREGON BILLS ROMANCE OF PRINCE HURT BY PUBLICITY

Salem, Ore., Jan. 11.—The romance of the Prince of Wales and Lady Elizabeth Bowes Lyon, which figured prominently in the campaign preceding the primary and general election in Oregon, has come to the fore in the State Legislature through the introduction of four bills by Representative D. C. Lewis of Portland.

One bill would repeal the section of the Oregon code which permits transportation and importation of wine for sacramental purposes. The second relates to the examination of the public school teachers. The third repeals the law exempting church property from taxation. The fourth seeks the repeal of the section providing for chaplains at the penitentiary and the Boys' Training School, one of whom under the present law must be a Catholic priest.

It is understood in circles close to the royal family that the Prince had hoped to announce his engagement to Lady Elizabeth in mid-October. High court officials, thinking that the public reaction to the match permitted the story to leak out. Publication of the story in a single London newspaper, the Daily News, annoyed the Prince greatly. He was said to feel that someone was trying to force his hand.

Lady Elizabeth is the daughter of the British Earl of Strathmore and Kinghorne.

"OLD DOC" COOK ACCUSED OF RUINING FAKE OIL BUSINESS

'EXPLORER' IN FINE GAME

Combining Nothing and Nothing, Says New Yorker In His Expose

Remember Old Doc Cook—Foster Dick A. the explorer? He set up as a discoverer. He said he discovered the North Pole, which he didn't.

Now he, himself, has been discovered. He is accused of fake business.

Dr. Cook, discoverer and announcer of the latest Cook exploit.

Mr. Houston told it to the national advertising commission of the Associated Advertisers' Clubs of the World at Washington. He spoke of investigation in the Texas oil fields. He said the National Vigilance Committee would soon issue a bulletin which will seriously inconvenience an explorer of world wide fame, "who has embarked on a gigantic robbing scheme." This scheme, Mr. Houston went on, led to the discovery of our "old friend" Dr. Cook, whose scheme is the consolidation of adulterated companies, probably on some new principle that the combination of nothing equals nothing.

The Cook organization, he went on, is a merger of some 200 oil companies nearly all of which are defunct. The scheme is to offer stockholders in these defunct companies an opportunity to exchange their holdings, dollar for dollar, for the holdings of the new company. Of course, they purchase 25 per cent. of their present holdings in the defunct company in stock of the new consolidation.

"It seems clear," Mr. Houston said later, "that Dr. Cook is doing what is called down in Texas a 'land of no business.' And, regardless of that, he is doing it with a company made up of some 200 enterprises in which the credulous public has already invested approximately $100,000,000."

HARDING EXPECTS

AID TO FARMERS

Frederick, Md., Jan. 11 (By Ticker).—National News Service—Prediction of immediate legislation designed to "ameliorate the economic situation in the agricultural industry" was made by President Harding today in a letter read before a meeting of farmers here. The President said: "Those who have taken note of my address to Congress will appreciate the keenness of my interest in this behalf. I feel strongly that the disposition of the Congress is equally favorable and that it is possible to look forward with confidence to some very important achievements."

Indications point to a record-breaking attendance for the fifteenth annual reunion and revival of the Irish dances of the Galway Benevolent Association of Greater Boston, scheduled at Mechanics Building, February 1. President Peter J. Mahan heads a committee of one hundred. Every county in Ireland will be represented in the grand march. Music by an orchestra of Irish pipes and drums will be provided.

BABSON TO TALK FINANCE TO CLERGY

Roger W. Babson of Wellesley will speak at "What Ministers Can Do With Their Spare Money" before the Massachusetts Federation of Churches in Wesleyan Hall, Monday, 10:30 A. M.

Miss Lucy Carnegie, by the way, will not be able to take part in the adventure, as she and her family, the Andrew Carnegies, 2nd, are leaving on Saturday for their winter residence in Georgia. Lucy numbers among the most important stars of the season, her debut taking place this Fall in the form of a ball at the Essex County Club in Manchester-by-the-Sea, where the Carnegie's summer place is known as "Seawold." Some time ago the family left the Shore, coming up to The Agents to be in town for the bad weather.

Popular Nina Higginson has the gripe, but everybody's hoping that she'll recover in time to help animate an ad. When the Francis Lee Higginson announced the engagement the other day of their oldest daughter to Bernard F. Rogers, Jr., of Chicago, there was a very large-sized force, which hasn't entirely subsided as yet. Miss Higginson, by the way, was of the North Shore's feminine group who adopted gay-colored bandannas last Summer, the orange-colored ones which she particularly favored setting off most effectively her dark hair and olive complexion.

will be the one which Suzette Sturgle is going to wear to represent the Old Colony Trust Company. The costume is to be made entirely all money. Miss Sturgle, who had considerable experience as stage manager for the Vincent Club show, is acting in the same capacity for Monday evening's affair.

ON Wednesday of the coming week the Misses Bertha and Frances Bragdon are giving a luncheon at their Brookline home in honor of Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn and their company. Earlier in the morning Miss St. Denis and Mr. Shawn will review in Dedgewater dancing school at 12 Berkeley street, which the Misses Bragdon are directing. That evening they are to have a box at the Opera House for the performance which Miss St. Denis and Mr. Shawn and their company are giving.

A WEDGWOOD VASE OR URN.

That's the way debutante Evelyn Walker is going to represent the Charles R. Lynde Company at the Animated Advertising Adventure, coming to the Boston Opera House on Monday evening in its fashionable glory.

Miss Ella Snelling, the celebrated daughter of the Rodman P. Snellings—who's asked to take part in almost every smart entertainment going—will emphasize the delights of S. S. Pierce Company's perfumery department by being an Animated Powder Puff.

I expect that blonde-haired "Rusie" Fessenden will make no end of a sensation when she rides upon the stage astride a three-legged pony, whose capers will advertise the London Harness Company. In less than three weeks' time the youngest daughter of the Sewall H. Fessenden will be coming down the aisle of the First Parish Church of Brookline upon the arm of her future husband.

NOVELTIES ON ONE IN TEN OF U. S. WIVES WORKING

By ZOE FABER.

The third annual recital in Boston of Carmine Fabris took place in Jordan Hall before an audience that was large and very enthusiastic.

For his concert, Mr. Fabris chose the same one that he played for the first time in Boston last Sunday when he appeared as soloist with the Poulter Symphony—the Concerto Romantic by Riccardo Zandonati. It is at the sort of thing that will attract and interest many people by virtue of its novelty, but, unlike the older concertos, will not stand repeated hearings that gain interest with each reading.

Alfred Le Voe, who was at the piano, gave him the most admirable support. Carmine Fabris plays well, but one could not help wondering why a violinist who plays as well as he does does not play better. Why, so often, when they reach his stage, do they have a tendency to let their violin get ragged around the edges?

Large Audience Enjoys Havens' Piano Recital

Raymond Havens, Boston pianist, gave one of the most interesting and enjoyable piano recitals of the season yesterday afternoon in Jordan Hall.

An enthusiastic audience applauded Mr. Havens, but derived no pleasure until the conclusion. Then, Mr. Havens added a lovely arrangement of the "Blue Danube," a waltz by Strauss and several other numbers.

The Violin Concerto (transcribed by J. S. Bach) was the opening number. It is decidedly interesting and so seldom heard. Three brilliant improvisations by Ottorino Respighi were beautiful compositions and exceedingly well played.

Fire from an overheated stove caused $12,000 damage in Joseph P. Miller's tailor shop in the one-story wooden building, No. 604 Medford street, Somerville, today.

INDIAN WIFE IS BOSTON ART MODEL

The only Indian model, perhaps, in Massachusetts is Mrs. Minnie Patrick, who lives at No. 44 Columbus avenue, who poses for the Boston Art School's Indian studies.

Mrs. Patrick, a native of Maine, is Indian on her mother's side. Four generations ago, her forebears were full-blooded Passamaquoddy Indians, hunting and trading for a living in the Maine woods.

"The Indian comes out in me is my love for everything outdoors. I hunt and swim and manage a boat, and I can find my way through unblazed trails where a woman with only white blood in her veins would be lost," said Mrs. Patrick.

Mrs. Patrick poses in a suit, heavily beaded in Indian design, that was a gift from an Indian friend, Thomas Shortliffe, of No. 44 South Russell street. Mr. Shortliffe, who loves to keep alive the traditions of his race, did the elaborate beadwork himself.

Youngest Fortia Is Cut For Selectman

FIGHTS AS 'EQUAL OF ANY MAN'

Miss Sybil Holmes Scores Appeal of Sex and May Later Run for Governor

Someone will have to figure out the feminine term corresponding to selectman!

Sybil Holmes today announced her candidacy for selectman in Brookline, and Brookline citizens are wondering what they shall call her, if she is elected. Selectress, Selectrix, Selectwoman?

Miss Holmes insists that her sex should have no bearing on the subject of her candidacy. Women candidates have been considering their sex their principal qualification too long, she declares.

EYES ON GOVERNORSHIP.

Holding the record of being the youngest woman in the United States ever admitted to the bar, Miss Holmes has practiced law in Boston for ten years. She was barely twenty-one when admitted.

"I cannot say what is the goal of my political ambitions," she said. "I firmly believe that women should run for all executive offices, and I am eager to gain my own political experience."

"I think I'd like to run for Governor some day. But when I do, I shall not try to make a feminine appeal. I shall be willing to compete equally with any man."

Miss Holmes is an ardent booster of Brookline, where she has been a resident for twelve years.

"Brookline should be the culture of New England. Wise administration of appropriations for libraries and schools and museums will help," she said.

ACTIVE IN POLITICS.

Miss Holmes is recognized as one of the leading unemployment experts in Massachusetts. She returned this week from a conference in Chicago as a member of the special committee on unemployment appointed by Governor Cox.

For several years she has been the director of the law department of the Women's Industrial and Educational Union. She is a member of the executive committee of the Brookline Republican League, the election committee of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, chairman of Brookline League of Women Voters, treasurer of the Professional Women's Club, and a member of the finance committee of the Women's City Club of Boston.

During the war she served on the Legal Advisory Board of Massachusetts. She was a delegate at the Republican Convention last fall.

Miss Holmes has her own law office at No. 15 State street. She is president of the Massachusetts Association of Women Lawyers.

Still to Go in New York Legislature Asking Probe of the Ward Murder Case

Haverhill, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Mary Peters of No. 21 Grove street, the mother of Clarence Peters, has won another step of her fight to clear the name of her murdered son of the aspersions cast on it by his alleged slayer, Walter S. Ward, millionaire vice-president of the Ward Baking Company.

Louis A. Culliver, New York Assemblyman, has said he would introduce a resolution Monday calling for the appointment of a legislative committee to investigate the murder and the dismissal of the first degree murder indictment against Ward.

This was learned here today. The committee following the current action of Mrs. Peters to Governor Smith of New York. The latter promised to have his personal attorney take the case.

Culliver asked Mrs. Peters to present at the session of the Assembly Monday. Attorney Frederick H. Wilson, counsel for Mrs. Peters, said that she would attend.

BROKER'S SON IN CARE OF WIFE

"It is a battle between a broker's money and a mother's love and I am winning."

Springfield, Jan. 11.—Charles J. Guyotte, a prominent insurance broker of Cambridge, pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy today before Judge Wallace J. Healy.

After seeking in vain for three of his wives, Mrs. Helen Shea Guyotte, of No. 20 Charles street, Haverhill, New York, today learned that her husband had married Helen Shea of Cambridge.

DESERTED WIFE NO. 2.

A little more than a year ago, Guyotte and his second wife went to Springfield on a vacation. They registered at a hotel, and Guyotte left on an errand. That was the last Mrs. Guyotte ever saw of him.

Accuses Two Girl Thieves

MISS HELEN O'CONNOR

Two young and lovely dressed women, believed to be the same pair who stole $100 worth from a Lynn beauty parlor, appeared in the Menard Police Parlor at No. 12 Tremont street, and asked to be given married women. They were told they would have to wait.

After a few minutes the suddenly left. Miss Helen O'Connor, of Cambridge West, assistant in the parlor, reported to the police that a valuable containing $12 and some jewelry went with them.

PHYSICIAN ON TRIAL; ACCUSED OF PERJURY

Charged with perjury in connection with testimony given in a recent trial of Albert W. Barker, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Joseph P. Small, Dorchester druggist, today the O'Brien, assistant to the chief of police, was charged with false testimony.

Several of Barker's leading associates believe the same as Prof. Earl Albert Holt of Hill School that the boys of today are better in many ways than the boys of thirty years ago.

Included in this group is Superintendent of Schools Jeremiah B. Burke, who adds, too, that the girls have improved greatly. This he attributes chiefly to the improvement in schools and teaching systems.

Augustine L. Hoffer, school superintendent, says they is no question that the boy of today has gone forward through the broader scope of athletics and the extending of the curriculum. The schools, and all of the means he says, write better English than the boys of thirty years ago.

Headmaster Samuel F. Traver of South Boston High School believes that the boy of today knows more than the boy of thirty years ago because there is more to know now.

PHYSICIAN ON TRIAL; ACCUSED OF PERJURY

Charged with perjury in connection with testimony given in a recent trial of Albert W. Barker, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Joseph P. Small, Dorchester druggist, today the O'Brien, assistant to the chief of police, was charged with false testimony.

Several of Barker's leading associates believe the same as Prof. Earl Albert Holt of Hill School that the boys of today are better in many ways than the boys of thirty years ago.

Included in this group is Superintendent of Schools Jeremiah B. Burke, who adds, too, that the girls have improved greatly. This he attributes chiefly to the improvement in schools and teaching systems.

Augustine L. Hoffer, school superintendent, says they is no question that the boy of today has gone forward through the broader scope of athletics and the extending of the curriculum. The schools, and all of the means he says, write better English than the boys of thirty years ago.

Headmaster Samuel F. Traver of South Boston High School believes that the boy of today knows more than the boy of thirty years ago because there is more to know now.

MARY SCOTT

The daughter of a doctor, a student at her own work, a talented woman who, as a result of her own work, has become a successful business woman, Mary Scott today announced her candidacy for selectman in Brookline, and Brookline citizens are wondering what they shall call her, if she is elected. Selectress, Selectrix, Selectwoman?

Miss Holmes insists that her sex should have no bearing on the subject of her candidacy. Women candidates have been considering their sex their principal qualification too long, she declares.

EYES ON GOVERNORSHIP.

Holding the record of being the youngest woman in the United States ever admitted to the bar, Miss Holmes has practiced law in Boston for ten years. She was barely twenty-one when admitted.

"I cannot say what is the goal of my political ambitions," she said. "I firmly believe that women should run for all executive offices, and I am eager to gain my own political experience."

"I think I'd like to run for Governor some day. But when I do, I shall not try to make a feminine appeal. I shall be willing to compete equally with any man."

Miss Holmes is an ardent booster of Brookline, where she has been a resident for twelve years.

"Brookline should be the culture of New England. Wise administration of appropriations for libraries and schools and museums will help," she said.

ACTIVE IN POLITICS.

Miss Holmes is recognized as one of the leading unemployment experts in Massachusetts. She returned this week from a conference in Chicago as a member of the special committee on unemployment appointed by Governor Cox.

For several years she has been the director of the law department of the Women's Industrial and Educational Union. She is a member of the executive committee of the Brookline Republican League, the election committee of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, chairman of Brookline League of Women Voters, treasurer of the Professional Women's Club, and a member of the finance committee of the Women's City Club of Boston.

This Day in Our History, January 11, 1923

THIS is the anniversary of the outlawing, in 1774, by the citizens of Newport, R. I., of all those who brought or sold tea. This was a direct defiance of the British Government, whose unjust taxes antagonized the colonies.

COOK STOVE ROUTE

How a Clever Saleswoman Introduced Her Goods to Wives Who Failed to Please Their Husbands With Home Cooking

By Ruth Logan

REBECCA SALMON could not cook because she was unwilling or indolent, but because the recipe didn't seem to come out right, she knew a thing or two about men and the way to hold their love, and one of the ways she decided to use was the most successful way of winning a husband. SALMON had a well-cooked eye, and she decided to use it to the cook at her door, and she succeeded pathetically and most ungraciously.

Just at this time a handsome young widow moved into the apartment across the hall, and, although an expert at cooking never intruded herself on the reputation of the house and parities and other details that Mrs. Anderson insisted on bringing over to Mrs. Nelson and her husband were the very essence of perfection. Mrs. Anderson had no mind, it seemed quite natural to assume that the attractive young woman prepared the foods herself.

"Oh," said Mrs. Nelson, "you teach me to cook as you do?" "It isn't as hard as you think," said Mrs. Anderson, "and you can't find out anything about it." "You mean you don't know how to cook?" asked Mrs. Nelson.

"For some reason Mrs. Anderson did not even enter her name in the right amount of time and in the right way. She was never at home and she began to feel that the strange neighbor got in the middle of the night to her cooking. As a result, she was a very trim woman tripped down stairs and did not return until very early in the evening.

Cook Without Waste

"I've been telling Mrs. Nelson that there is a way to cook without an endless amount of time being wasted," said the husband one evening when Mrs. Anderson dropped in. "Now, Mrs. Anderson, you do not say home all the time, yes, I know, you have a better understanding than any other woman within blocks."

"It's my business to do it," Mrs. Anderson admitted. "I know that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach and it is my business to find the way to the hearts of men."

"It's my business to look after my husband and his heart," said Mrs. Anderson, "I think, Mrs. Anderson, that I can do it with you outside here."

"No, you can't, my dear. I discovered that as soon as I moved here and brought over my first offering, your husband is not so happy when he is not home as he is when he is here."

With this Mrs. Anderson arose and went out, leaving behind a tearful Mrs. and a slightly indignant Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth from the first floor. They were laughing and then left her dining table to greet them in response to her husband's call.

"Mrs. Nelson, when we have been in the same house, let's tell all the neighbors."

Her Trump Cards

DRAWN BY POPINI

WHAT chance has a mere man—for more men are endowed with such vivid imaginations—against a girl who holds within one fair hand all the trump in the game of hearts? signed one man to me upon a certain stormy day. And because for a moment I was—I made no reply.

Why strive to translate the man who was busy with up at the door, being the scientific yet sex-romantic of his blushing beauty and infinite charm? Can one dissect a lily—tearing white petals from white petals to disclose the golden treasure of its heart—without banishing the very beauties one is so eager to understand? How can anyone—even the girl herself—explain that at a certain time her indifference, her tears, her laughter, her sores, even her living glance, may mean something entirely different than it means at another time? It must undergo to win.

Yet how can be understood when in his game of hearts his heart means always one thing only—love, devotion, eagerness to sweep all cards aside and clasp her close.

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES

Anne Was Much Impressed With Tony—the Magnificence of the Man Who Could Grapple With Betty's Problem as He Was Doing

By Ann Lisle

"It's ghastly!" I cried. "Our independent, virginal, proud direct Betty reduced to a state of being an automaton. I wonder how long—"
"I've spoken about it," replied Tony, "the shock of Betty's going into it came at a time when she was struggling to read (and KNEEHEAVINGLY, I might add) a situation he had enough in himself. Her hand—"
Tony looked at his own right hand as he spoke, knowing that inside the glove he always wears a piece woven for her, realizing that he has designated himself again and again as a man of the man who is more impressed by the magnificence of the man who could grapple with Betty's problem as he was doing. "I'm calling a spade a spade," I'm not sure."

Waited in Silence

I waited in silence until he found the courage to go on. "Betty isn't interested in being married. The operation appears to have been a success. The handling of having only one hand is greater than she can handle. For Betty there is also the blow to her femininity, the marriage of her being married as she feels with her useless hand, and it's not easy."

And she can't have you," I cried, vehemently.
"That's terrible," I murmured, committed now to the course on which I had embarked.

"I was afraid to meet Tony's eyes. I could fancy them—those penetrating, cold, and as remote as his eyes when I've gone past some barrier I should have been told that I had done so in excruciating taste, and yet in

PROTECTION OF BANKERS IS PROPOSED

Better protection for bankers and depositors, standardization of legal practices in financial transactions and improvement of certain Federal Reserve and foreign bank laws aimed at the smoother flow of securities are proposed in the 1923 program of the American Bankers' Association.

The organization, composed of virtually every banker on the continent, proposes to elevate the business laws of the more "backward" States to those already in effect in others.

In this connection it will seek to introduce before some Legislatures measures unifying the statutes concerning negotiable instruments, bills of lading, warehouse receipts, stock transfers and fiduciaries.

Boston Notes

GILLETTE Safety Razor completed on December 31 last the best year in its history, with net earnings before taxes substantially in excess of the $7,008,000 reported for 1921.

PARTICULARLY heavy mass copper is being taken out of No. 2 shaft, Quincy. Within last two weeks masses as much as eighteen feet in length and two to four feet thick have been produced.

NASH Motors' latest dividend makes equivalent of $33.50 a share under the company's stock dividend plan.

WALDORF'S cash position is very strong today, amounting to about 50 per cent. of its aggregate current assets.

KENNECOTT is persistently reported as prepared to make a more liberal offer to Mother Lode stockholders.

GOOD PROGRESS is being made in sinking of Gratiot No. 2 shaft Seneca, from thirteenth, or bottom, level, but more speed will be possible when new power plant now nearing completion goes into commission.

December, the mine had been coming from New South Wales. Due to the transfer of the mine to the Trimountain shaft in 1954, the latter mine increased production about 40 per cent.
